Guerrero Olivos secures loan for Andean Telecom Partners

Law firm Guerrero Olivos has acted as Chilean counsel for Andean Telecom Partners Chile on a $170 million loan

The syndicated senior secured financing for Andean Telecom Partners, a multinational owner, operator, and manager of telecommunications infrastructure specialising in leasing space on towers to telecom operators and other wireless users across South America, was granted by a group of lenders led by the Bank of Nova Scotia.

A portion of the facility commitments are available in US dollar borrowings across separate financing facilities, with each of the three operating subsidiaries, ATP Colombia, ATP Chile, and ATP Peru, the law firm said,

The dollar-denominated facilities are additional incremental add-on facilities to the existing local currency borrowings under the longstanding financing facilities with Scotiabank with each of the three companies.
