Andean Telecom Partners Secures $170m Loan

Posted on 20-08-2020

Andean Telecom Partners (ATP), a multinational owner, operator, and manager of telecommunications infrastructure across South America, has secured a $170 million loan.

The loan was granted by a group of lenders led by the Bank of Nova Scotia.

ATP specializes in leasing space on towers to telecom operators and other wireless users, and has a presence in Chile, Colombia and Peru.

Part of the loan commitments will be made available in US dollar borrowings across separate financing facilities, with each of ATP's three operating subsidiaries, ATP Colombia, ATP Chile, and ATP Peru.

The US dollar-denominated facilities are additional incremental add-on facilities to the existing local currency borrowings under longstanding financing facilities between Scotiabank and each of the three companies.

Guerrero Olivos acted as Chilean counsel to ATP, with a team comprising partner Macarena Ravinet, associates Tomás Montes, Pilar Illanes and Antonia Namur

ATP Holdings, ATP Colombia, ATP Chile, and ATP Peru were counseled in the US by Morrison & Foerster, with a team led by partner Randy Bullard, with associates Axel Miranda and Ana Beatriz Llerena.

In Peru and Colombia, ATP was counseled by Garrigues. The law firm's Peru team was led by partner Thomas Thorndike, with associates Miluska Gutierrez and Ian Forsyth, while Garrigues' Colombia team featured partner Andres Ordoñez and associates Cristina Copete and Juan Sebastian Parra.
