Latin Lawyer announces Elite 2021

12 May 2021

Latin Lawyer Elite firms have each carved out their own paths towards excellence and demonstrate unique areas of strength. Here, we reveal this year's Elite.

The firms recognised lead the way in their respective markets for the excellent work they do for clients. They also invest significant time and effort in maintaining their competitive edge, through astute business development and careful talent management.

To finalise this list, we drew on more than two decades of on-the-ground knowledge to award firms points in several distinct areas of excellence designed to recognise the robustness of these institutions.

Our research relied on data compiled through our own leading independent surveys into management practices, including diversity, international experience and pro bono. We also considered research conducted into each legal marketplace as part of the Latin Lawyer 250 and factored in our daily news coverage of the leading deals and cases across Latin America. Research performed by our affiliate brand, the Latin American Corporate Counsel Association (LACCA) supplemented our findings.

The result is a list of firms at the forefront of their respective markets and that each bring successful, innovative strategies and experiences to the table. The list below is not exhaustive, but the firms that appear are there for good reason.

Latin Lawyer Elite focuses on the region's largest jurisdictions – Argentina, Brazil, Chile, Colombia, Mexico, Peru, Uruguay and Venezuela – as well as Panama and the Central American region. As such, firms from smaller markets do not appear on this list.
