

TITULO: Estudio Eche copar counsels IBM Peru in infrastructure business division
Nº	FECHA	MEDIO	SECCIÓN	PÁGINA
142676	2021-10-20	iberianlawyer.com	On Line	SP

Imagen 1/1

Tuesday, 19 October 2021 21:57

Estudio Eche copar counsels IBM Peru in infrastructure business division

font size   | Print | Email

Estudio Eche copar has assisted IBM del Perú in the spin-off from IBM Corporation of its Infrastructure Management Services

(pictured top centre) and Rolando Ramirez Gastón (pictured middle centre), senior associates Fernando Sam (pictured bottom centre), Cristina de la Piedra (pictured top right), Laura Francia (pictured middle right) and Elizabeth Zamudio (pictured bottom right), associates Katherine Zapata and Diego Becerra.

Estudio Eche copar, associated with Baker & McKenzie International, has advised IBM del Perú in the local implementation of the segregation of IBM Corporation, carried out worldwide, of its Infrastructure Management Services business. In Peru, this was implemented through a spin-off process whereby IBM del Peru segregated and transferred a block of assets and liabilities of this line of business to Kyndryl Peru.

IBM and Kyndryl will be independent entities, however, at launch both will be each other's principal customers and will remain strategic partners. Kyndryl will continue to include IBM hardware and software in its offerings. Kyndryl designs, implements and manages a modern, efficient and reliable technology infrastructure.

Estudio Eche copar's team was led by partner Inés Baca (pictured left), with the support of partners Zita Aguilera